Home Comfort Ranges!

The present century is pre-eminently one of practical progress and improvement, yet in no branch of industry have greater gains been made than in that which aids in loading the table with food perfectly prepared, one of the first and most necessary steps toward health, that boon priceless alike to prince or poor man. The brush heap probably cooked the first food, and the huge fireplace, garnished with hooks, cranes and ovens, was a giant stride in progress. It took years of patient toil to bring up to its present grade of utility the cast iron cook stove. It is now conceded by most thoughtful people to have had its day of usefulness, and in every point of superiority wrought-Iron Ranges are superseding them. Investigation, experience and practical tests have demonstrated these to be incontrovertible facts. Practical experience is potent and absolute, and by that severe test we have carefully tried every progressive step and change in the construction of our Ranges. We absolutely guarantee them to work to perfection, and they make friends everywhere. They are marvels of usefulness, and economic no less than sanitary reasons urge that they be used in every family. Wealth without health is adorned poverty, and poverty without health is misery. Good food, properly cooked, is a great factor in health, hence the necessity that all should have one of our matchless "Home Comfort" Ranges, bringing health and comfort; so that "good digestion waits on appetite, and health on both."

WISE HINTS.

What Congress Will Do to Prevent Epidemics Next Year.

A Wonderful Mirage Caused by the Washington Monument—How Campaign Clubs Annoy a National Committee—The Democratic Congressional Majority.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, September 1.—The belief is expressed here that this year will be the one in which the yellow fever and the cholera will be most prevalent. Of course it is early to speak with positive assurance regarding either, but if the weather continues favorable it is believed that the quarantine along the southern line will be sufficient to keep yellow fever out of the country, while as to the cholera the success of the reports on the other side of the water that the disease will not reach us this year, only re-schores the convictions of those who have studied the matter from this standpoint. This fact does not, however, warrant anybody in supposing that vigilance may not be a moment relaxed. Indeed, it really means that it must be renewed, for it is generally conceded among medical men that the cholera does not reach this country this year it is very likely to do so next season in some form. The reason is that there will be a necessity for a continuation, during the next year, of the same conditions which have this year been successful in keeping the disease out of the country. Not only this, but it will be necessary for all cities to make preparations, now that they are warned in time, for the worst. If the disease does not make its appearance within the next few weeks, it may be safely concluded that it will not develop here before next season, but it may also be concluded that there is great danger that it will reach the United States by March of next year, and with it comes the probability of a great epidemic. This is an opportunity to so thoroughly prepare for it that the danger will be greatly lessened if the warning note given is heeded. If the cholera does not reach us this year it will be necessary to make its appearance within the next few weeks it may be considered pretty certain that it will not appear for six or eight months, but this is not a safe conclusion.

If the cities of the country, thus forewarned, take the necessary precautions, it will be safe to conclude that the cholera will not reach us this year.

Forewarned is it has been said, forearmed. If the cities of the country, thus forewarned, take the necessary precautions, it will be safe to conclude that the cholera will not reach us this year.

Forewarned is it has been said, forearmed.

LABOR VS. LAW.

The Miners of Hocking Valley Up in Armed Resistance.

They Declare Against "Black Legs," Imported Labor, Reduced Wages and New Machinery.

To-Day's List of the Killed and Wounded—The Mine Owners Arise to Explain—Gov. Hooley and the Troops Out—Mob Law Galore.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, September 1.—A most alarming condition exists in the Hocking Valley, and the most serious results may be expected if the indications of Saturday night point to a united purpose on the part of the miners to resist the military. Thousands of men in that valley have been out of employment for months, and the prospect of any betterment of their condition grows darker as their means of subsistence grow lighter and lighter. They are residents of the locality, and their wives and children depend on their work in the mines for food and clothing. The mine owners have closely combined to prevent the success of the miners' strike. At great expense they have procured foreign cheap labor, Italians and negroes, or anybody that could be had willing to work at lower rates, and have found it necessary to put guards around the mines where these "blacklegs," as the miners call them, are employed, to prevent violence from the striking miners. Until Saturday night there had been outbreaks of consequence. There are signs that this will be followed, and the miners are about to drive away the "blacklegs" by force, but there is difficulty in getting unbiased accounts, so bitter is the feeling on both sides. One account states that the burning of the hoppers at Strattsville was done while guards were

DRUNK OR ASLEEP,

and that they charged it on the strikers to relieve themselves of blame. An apparently fair account of the Snake Hollow outbreak says the rumors of trouble culminated Sunday morning at half past one, by an attack of armed strikers, variously estimated at from seven to five to 100, resulting in the killing of one guard instantly and the wounding of two others seriously, and it is known that quite a number were shot on the other side, but it is impossible to ascertain the names. Until recently Snake Hollow has been guarded by thirty-five Pinkerton guards. A few days ago they were transferred to other points and replaced by guards from Logan and that neighborhood, twenty-two in number, armed with shot-guns and bayoneted rifles, every gun and a brace of revolvers each. At the time of the attack but seven guards were on duty. They gave the alarm and opened fire; the rest of the guards rallied, and for ten minutes a continued fire was kept up. More than 1,000 shots were exchanged and the strikers were at last driven back. Wm. O'Hara of Logan, an old veteran of the late war, was doing guard duty at the time. The strikers doubtless knew his position as he was taken by surprise. He was heard to say: "For God's sake, gentlemen, have mercy," and was instantly shot dead, more than entering his body literally tearing away his shoulder. He was an industrious man, much esteemed, and well known in Logan. He leaves a wife, Jacob Liff, ex-cs-officer of Logan, was shot through the calf of the leg by buckshot. His wound is not dangerous.

Asai Bawier, a German and unmarried, aged about 25, was shot in the head by buckshot; scalp wound, not dangerous. Barney Donnelly, Albert Riggs and William Humphrey, track-layers, were asleep in a barn, just outside of the picket line. The barn was surrounded by the strikers and all three captured. Donnelly was knocked down and badly beaten, but the others escaped. I had a talk with Donnelly. He says there were about seventy-five in the party. All were masked. Some had their faces blackened, others had handkerchiefs tied over them and all were armed with shot guns, pistols and rifles. He says that while he was with them he was shot down and fell into the arms of another and was carried off. He thinks several were badly wounded. From Donnelly's statement, it appears that a second attack was made. He says: "After being captured I was taken out on the road about four of a mile, where reinforcements were expected. The man who appeared to be leader said: 'Boys, it is no use to fight; our reinforcements have backed out.'"

It is claimed on the part of the mine owners that the miners by insisting on a uniform scale all over the State, put them at a disadvantage, because the Hocking Valley vein is from nine to thirteen feet thick, while in other coal regions the vein is much thinner and consequently more expensive to work. The miners fix their scale as is most suitable for their veins. This makes Hocking Valley mining too expensive to the owners, and they are introducing machinery as well as cheap men. It is against this machinery that much of the strikers' hostility is directed.

MORE MINERS OUT.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 1.—The miners in the Ohio region, along Sunday Creek, went out to-day on the pretext of not getting the September advance. They are expected to join the Hocking Valley strike, being adjourned.

Nothing has been heard here yet from the Governor and party. Troops are still held in waiting. Advises from Hocking Valley indicate that the firing around the mines and in the woods last night resulted in no casualties.

BY TELEGRAPH.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, September 1.—The miners at State Hollow, in Hocking Valley, attacked the guards at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, killing one, and wounding two others. About 2,000 miners in all made the attack. One of the hoppers was burned Saturday night, at a loss of about $11,000. Communication is cut off and information very vague. The Columbus and Hocking Valley officials have run down a special train and further trouble is anticipated. Late in the morning the rioters attacked the guard at Land Run and Longstreet Mine. Sheriff McCarty of Hocking County, after exhausting all means in his power to suppress the mob, sent for the militia, and Gov. Hooley ordered out the Columbus Battalion of the Fourth Regiment. The Governor's Guards, the Leavenworth Cavalry and New Lexington companies have also been sent to the scene of action. The last wire was cut late last night, and the Governor himself took a special train and gone to the place of the riot.

AT THE SEAT OF WAR.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Everything is quiet in the valley this morning, and there is no authentic report of damage to person or property last night. There was a rumor this morning that fifteen men had been killed at Buciet, but this lacks confirmation, and probably there is nothing in the report. Telegraph communication is in good shape this morning, and it is learned that the continued firing early last night was between the strikers and guards at Sandusky and Longstreet. It is not learned yet that any person was injured. The Governor arrived here on a special train early this morning and is disposed to learn all he can about the situation before ordering more troops on the ground. He is furnished a special train by the road, and is accompanied by his private secretary, Dan McCollum, Walter Crafts of the Hocking Coal Company; Frank Merrick, attorney for the latter company, and the representatives of the Associated Press.

Gov. Hooley had a consultation with the leaders of Logan this morning, among them being Judge Friesner and Colonel Seth Weid, the sheriff and others. He says he has formed no definite conclusion as yet from what he has heard, but he will make a report of the same to-morrow to-day, and will see the leaders of both sides. He will be accompanied by the sheriff, Judge Friesner and others. Frank Woody is in jail here, arrested for participating in the riot Saturday night and for shooting Wm. Hare, one of the guards. He made a full confession this morning in which he gave the names of five or six leaders in the attack of Saturday night. Sheriff McCarty will furnish the names of those implicated as soon as the arrests can be made. He will be accompanied by the sheriff, Judge Friesner and others. ITALIANS IN LONDON.

No Romance Among Organ-Grinders and Image-Venders.

From the Saturday Review.
Italian organ-grinders are not generally welcome visitors to the man of a cultivated mind. Even if they do not pause on the neighboring window, their jaded approach and slow departure along the narrow echoing street are quite enough to convince him that music may be by no means the least disagreeable noise. In the same way, the itinerant image-dealer does not care for pictures, nor the image-man find his chief patrons among the aesthetic devotees of gewgaws and gifts. Indeed, if we except the waiters who are to be found everywhere, our poorer Italian gypsies and art for the uncultured; and it should be remembered to their credit that they have to a large extent created the demand they supply. Of summer days it is pleasant, now and then, to have a tramp, a mount, a song, or a guitar, guitar-strings dancing round a swarthy stranger, or to watch a matron chequering the planted cast of a naked child, which she strangely like the one she lately lost; but, on the whole, the foreigner is not to be sent to the streets of London. In autumn and winter they often lend a new horror to the prevailing dreariness. On a dull November afternoon, for instance, you may chance upon a woman dressed in the peasant attire of the country of another land. She is carrying a bird-cage, whose denizens look as comfortable and bedraggled as their employer. Her dress is so sodden that she no longer cares to seek a partial protection from the damp, and her whole face and hands are covered with the stains of a wash-bath against which it is useless to struggle or protest. If you speak to her in her own language her eyes will brighten for a moment, and you do not feel inclined to ask her replies with a smile to your question as to whether she is English.

When you continue the conversation, and ask her where she was born, she answers you politely enough, though the light dies out of her eyes, and the old woman still looks return. It is not nowise-surely the change that has caused her to doubt whether, after all, you will give her the sixpence she expected when first you addressed her, or only a copper. Mean-while she has probably mentioned a name which recalls your mind's vision of a matron and orange-peel, of a matron whited over with olives, and a sunny expanse of fertile plain or glistening sea, and so you go on your way with a feeling that the fog or drizzle is even more cheery than before. This you may also notice the Italian Londoner of this year, and among the Italian Londoners of this year, the more you feel that the clear light and the fierce heat of the south are needed to bring out the full flavor of the national character. Here it is apt to become tasteless or sour, like unripe fruit. Oh, to hear, too, the Italian gypsies of ours have lost much of the romance that used to encircle them. No compassionate maid can now hope, when dropping a penny into the hat of a wandering musician, instead of spending it upon a child, the same old alibi—the softnings of a noble political exile; no poor mother who shares her children's scanty meal with the small Italian who appears at her door, ought to fancy that he is a slave whom neither English nor Italian law can protect.

WITCHCRAFT IN BLOIS.

How a French Fortune Teller Acted as a Guardian Angel.

From the New York Herald.
The ancient city of Blois has lately been visited by a woman who has experienced an adventure so strange that it can only be told to a statistician by her attorney. In June last, Mme. Duval, an old lady carrying on a farming business in the neighborhood, went to Blois market, and while there was accosted by the fortune teller, whose services for a small fee, she inquired of her the witch's confidence. Since the code was the watch-word of both friend and client, the bourgeoisie took her newly found acquaintance home and the latter at once set to work. The sage, regarding the bewitching of the old woman, who was very thirsty, acted accordingly, and to increase no doubt the outlay of capital, she tore up the tiles of her bedroom under which she had hidden a sum of money, and furthermore borrowed several thousand francs, besides 8,000, from her notary. Everything now was in favor of the sorceress, whose final instruction was on no account to touch the old woman's eyes, for the charm would then be void. Lastly, and not least in the art of sophistry—circumstances demanded the key of the cabinet to be in the hands of the designer of the fraud, who would pass the notary as it was a secret. The next day, circumstances obliged the avaricious to leave for a few days at most. During that period, however, the charms of deception were not to be beaten, as a powder of whitish color was left for the old lady to burn on a well heated oven to drive away the evil spirits and complete the enterprise. Mme. Duval, strange to say, believed everything and obeyed all to the letter. No sooner was the powder of whitish hue brought into use than an explosion occurred in the house. As soon as was on the scene the smoke and the flame got under, but Mme. Duval was found to be much injured, though her recovery is anticipated. Needless to add that the spiritualist had both taken charge of the cash and intended concluding the campaign by asphyxiating her victim so as to cast aside suspicion.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1884.

THE best thing the Ninth District Committee can do is to put an end to all talk about "ring" methods by conceding everything that is asked in regard to the primaries. Let us have peace.

THE contest in Illinois seems to be between Gen. LOGAN and Gen. Apathy. If the Democracy does not pull itself together and work harder in the next sixty days, it will get very badly left.

TO-DAY'S developments in the matter of the charges against Messrs. ROBERTSON and WHEATLEY make mighty interesting reading. The morning papers do not know an item when we give it to them.

GENERAL LORD WOLESEY started yesterday to rescue GORDON. After GORDON has been rescued and the Soudan re-occupied the British interests in Egypt will be about in the same position as they were in before the British troops went out of the Soudan and GORDON went into it.

A GREAT many people have been disturbed by the unwonted spectacle of citizens, colored and uncovored, engaged in cleaning the streets, and there has been much speculation as to what it meant. A great many are inclined to regard it as a case of local interference in a federal election.

It is a little early to forecast the weather for Wednesday, but it is not to early to say that if the weather is fine St. Louis will on that day witness such a display as is not often witnessed in modern times. The opening of the Exposition is a big thing, and the country cousin is requested not to forget it.

ANOTHER polar expedition is to be started and is to be put in charge of Chief Engineer MELVILLE, who seems, according to all accounts, to be about the worst person who could be chosen to command such an expedition. In order to save time it might be as well to arrange for sending out the relief expedition at the same time with the original expedition.

THE editor of the Republican is thrown into double-leaded paradoxes of horror over the rule that each aspirant for a Congressional nomination in the Ninth District must pay down $500 in advance. Considering the lavish use of money for direct purposes of corruption in this district two years ago, any protest against heavily meeting the legitimate expenses of the primaries is decidedly Pick-sniffian.

THE situation in the Ninth Congressional District is very simple. The Republican advises the Democrats to defeat the Democratic candidate, no matter who may be nominated, while the Globe-Democrat advises the Republicans to defeat the Republican candidate. Under these circumstances the Post-DISPATCH will adhere to its uniform policy of publishing all the news in advance of its esteemed contemporaries.

BEN BUTLER has openly asserted that he had been in New York in 1863 there would have been no draft riots and that if he had been in Pittsburgh in 1877 there would have been no railroad riots. It is evidently BENJAMIN's duty to repair at once to the Hocking Valley to put an end to the riots which have already resulted in loss of life and which promise to lead to a great deal of bloodshed if not promptly arrested.

THE worst thing about the police force is not that charges of blackmail and collusion with the criminal classes are constantly floating in the air, but that public opinion invariably accepts these little incidents as a matter of course. The reputation of the force suffers because a few notorious black sheep have been retained by the Commissioners, and whenever any scandal arises one of these unsavory individuals is found to have a hand in it.

THE decision in the contested election case in the Fifth District may be taken as a test of the policy of the State Democratic Committee and will go far towards securing for the committee the confidence of the public. When the Democracy of Missouri nominates fairly good ticket and puts the management of its affairs in the hands of a reputable committee it has a right to insist on proper recognition, but we suppose it is hopeless to expect justice from a political opponent in a campaign year.

THE mining riots in Ohio furnish a very unpleasant commentary on the political situation. We are not going to blame the Republican party because miners, who are poorly paid at the best, make a foolish and lawless struggle against a situation which threatens them with starvation. But we do assert that one such incident is quite enough to give the lie to all the fulsome declarations of the Republican party, which claims that it has taken care of the interests of labor. The truth of the matter is that, while legislation has taken care of the capitalist, the laborer has had to take care of himself, and the net result, after twenty years of peace and good government, is that in prosperous times the capitalist doubles his fortune while the laborer gets a living; in hard times the capitalist passes a dividend or two while the laborer starves.

JOURNALISM in Spain is illustrated by the fact that the editor of El Pionero gets eighteen years' imprisonment for speaking disrespectfully of the person of the King. As the American paragraph-founder makes his disrespectful remarks about things generally it is a great source of consolation to him to reflect that he is not in Spain, where a ridiculous Bourbon dupe offers such a perceptible change of diet to the humor which has fed on the Mother Hubbard and the operatic Husband so long. The temptation would be too tempting, and the prison would.

MR. JAMES MORGAN, a burglar who was arrested at Worcester, Massachusetts, the other day while burgling, was found to have in his possession, along with the apparatus of his profession, a small scrap book full of the movements of prominent New England families at the seashore, clipped from the society columns of the different papers. Why Mr. MORGAN preserved this kind of literature is very evident. He must have been a deserving robber who desired to improve his mind in his leisure moments, and chose the society columns as the place where he could find the greatest amount of thoughts that breathe wedded to words that burn. For breathless interest and tense emotion the society item commands itself to all. It is a queer commentary on New England civilization that the discovery should be made by a burglar.

AMONG the other matters which are to be brought to the attention of the Postal Congress that meets at Lisbon, in October, are two propositions which will attract more than usual attention. The first is a scheme for the insurance of valuable letters in transit. The plan proposed is to ascertain a fair rate of insurance, by examination of the postal statistics of the world, and charge a fixed sum to be paid, as postage is paid, by stamp on the letter containing the valuables. This is being done the government of each country guarantees the delivery of the package. The limit of value it is proposed to fix at 10,000 francs. This scheme is said not to meet with the approbation of the United States postal authorities, but it will be urged by the French and German delegates to the Congress. In Italy for some time past, books of identification have been issued by the Post Office for the use of commercial travelers and others desiring to be identified away from home for different purposes. The Italian Government will bring this scheme before the Congress and urge its general adoption, as it has been found to work well in Italy, and the Italians want to see it extended over other countries. By application to the Postmaster, a person proves himself to be JOHN JONES. Then JOHN JONES' signature and description is sent to all the places at which he desires to be identified by the Post Office authorities. A number of matters of detail will come before the Congress, the chief of these being a more satisfactory handling of the general money order business and a return-paid international postal card.

FRANCE hundred members of the Russian Secret Police have arrived in Warsaw to make ready for the reception of the Czar. They will work for the next week in hunting for the dynamite cartridges which the Nihilists are supposed to have placed in position for their little demonstration of welcome, and if the hidden dangers are obliterated the meeting of the three Emperors will pass off without incident. Still it must be annoying to be continually expecting several pounds of nitro-glycerine to let go. While the Czar is on his feet telling his imperial brethren that this is the happiest moment of his life and that there are times when the feelings overpower one, the mere spilling of a writer with the corn beef and cabbage on it, will send cold chills racing up and down his back, and make him condemn the fate which sent only 500 men to Warsaw when he might have sent five thousand. And for the Emperors of Germany and Austria also the meeting will have its excitements. Both of these gentlemen have had an occasional experience with assassins, but they recognize the fact that the Russian variety of that product of high civilization is a very different article from their own. A conference which the Nihilists have taken a contract to break up, and, from the police precautions, this seems to belong to that class, may get safely through with its work, but the gentlemen conferring will not waste any time. Things will be greatly expedited, and there will be little useless debate or obstruction. The chief business will be to concert measures against the Socialists, and this will add to the nervousness of the Congress of three. It is a ticklish meeting and each one of the Emperors undoubtedly expects it will be well over. Such a pot-shot will seldom come within the range of one lot of dynamite cartridges again.

MEN OF MARK.

MR. BONNER is said to have offered Mr. Case $600 for Jay-Eye-See.

MR. CAVEL is lecturing in Milwaukee and other cities of the Northwest.

LEX. Chin and Wong are said to be the Chinese Smith, Brown and Jones.

PROFESSOR TYNDALL, one of the most noted of scientists, does not know the year of his birth.

R. STORRARD, of literary note, has paddled his own canoe from New York to Bar Harbor.

Three thousand Smiths had a reunion at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and there was not a John Smith among them.

VIENNA is bestowing on Mozart, who wanted bread when living, a monument that costs $60,000, or more than he received for his whole life work.

ELI FREEMAN writes from Munich that when Bay and Taylor are in that city of mists and music he often drink six quart mugs of "steins" of beer at a sitting.

SPENCER CARLSON's friends say the portrait of him painted for the House of Representatives is as bad as some of the newspaper cuts of him, and worse than that cannot be imagined.

MR. CHAMBERS thinks the Wisconsin party is not to be induced a German, while the New Englander will be at least half an Irishman.

At last Artemus Ward (Charles F. Browne) is to have a modest monument over his grave at Waterford. Me., his mother, the late Mrs. Caroline E. Browne, having left $300 for that purpose.

CITY REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

PEST OPPORTUNITY TO BUY--I have sold eight of those elegant and most desirable houses in the city, including a fine residence, 1200 sq. ft., in a square block of Lafayette Park, Second Corridor, bounded by the Widow Gates, who lives in the back country, some twenty miles south of this city, and inquire concerning the widow's son, who left home some years ago, in a short time the stranger's identity was revealed, and the widow's long-lost son was in her arms. The name of the gentleman is Charles Sanford. Ten years ago he was a rough, uncouth, backwoods boy. His life since then has been passed up to Wednesday last in the penitentiary at Alton, and the story of the transition from Alton to the outside world is that of the preparations for the opening night exercises, and here Mr. House's theatrical experience stood him in good stead. All off al arms were given him for the purpose of the direction of the speaker.

and prominent gentlemen, he secured space in front of the door, and when the speaker had finished, too, in his expression of the opinion that these seats should be reserved for the press, and that the public should be admitted, the speaker, among themselves by whom, will secure the absence from their quarters of the usual influx of aggressive individuals who have an imaginary claim to the position of the speaker, and who will not be content with the present iniquitous position which do not belong to them. The Mechanical department is full of energy that more than satisfies the requirements of the speaker, and satisfactory shape. The pump tank is being completed, and one can already see how attractive this will be when under full steam.

Some fifty odd men will enter the lake soon to be health.

Next at hand the Age of Steel people are putting the finishing touches to their exhibit of all of the latest novelties, which will be arranged in about 100 pigeon holes.

At another part of the hall, the various dynamic departments are being added, and the addition to the trials which are to decide the question of which one of them shall be purchased by the association, as to the permanence of power, to attain the maximum of the thin metal of Edison's carbon.

The platforms wherever the display of agricultural machines are to be made, are all but completed, and the various forms of the more important agricultural novelties, other implements of the farm, will be exhibited, and the arrival of the visitors from agricultural parts.

The mounted Corliss engine, of 30-horse power, which is to supply the power to the larger portion of the exhibition, is being prepared, and the other engines will be in condition this evening to receive vital impulse from the boiler over on Thirteenth street.

ONE OF THE MOST UNIQUE shows

in preparation is that of the Collier Lead Works which is situated in the middle of the city, and is now being made of lead pipe which is bent into a variety of graceful forms, the whole making the exhibit one of peculiar attractiveness.

The last to be completed with great dispatch, and exhibitors are now ready for the hanging of the pictures, and the work will be completed in time to meet the opening of the exhibition, and the amount of entertainment which will be dispensed will be worthy of recapitulation.

The visitor will have the disposal of the survey of the rich and varied collection of all the latest and most interesting articles to be found in the West, providing local dilettantes with the greatest opportunity to assure an art display such as has seldom been seen before.

It is to be hoped that the exhibitors will be well satisfied with the arrangements.
